Behavioral Contract

Kid’s College operates on a positive house-based behavior system. Campers are expected to behave in a respectful and safe manner at all times and in all areas associated with this camp experience. The following steps will be implemented in an effort to allow a camper to continue day-to-day attendance:

Every effort will be made to keep all campers safe, engaged, happy, and motivated to participate in a positive least restrictive manner.

Should a camper make the choice to:
- Speak or act in a disrespectful manner to another camper, counselor, instructor, or director,
- Willingly and purposefully opt to disrupt an instructional lesson, activity, or process in any way,
- Disregard the rules,
- Refuse to participate,
- Engage in any disruptive or dangerous actions

The following procedures will be implemented:

Level 1---Consequences, warnings, and redirections provided by the counselor onsite
Level 2---Removal from the academic or instructional block for a short time with a counselor
Level 3---Removal from the academic or instructional block for community service with a camp Director
Level 4---Removal from the academic or instructional block for a time out in the camp office
Level 5---Dismissal from all camp activities for a full day

Once a camper has been removed from an instructional setting for a time out with the camp director three times; the parent of the camper will be invited in for a conference to determine if Kid’s College is truly what this camper needs/wants at this time.

As camp directors, our first priority is the safety of other campers, counselors, directors, and instructors. Any actions that jeopardize or threaten the safety of those listed above will result in immediate dismissal for the duration of the camp.

Our second priority is providing the highest quality educational experience for all campers. Campers who continually disrupt or disengage in the instructional segments offered may be asked to withdraw from camp if a positive solution cannot be consistently implemented.

By signing below the parent and the camper(s) are indicating and understanding of as well as agreeing to the conditions outlined above.
